PRESIDENT FACING DILEMMA AS FUND COMMISSION SAILS

ADMINISTRATION HANDS ARE TIED BY ACT OF CONGRESS.

BIG PROBLEMS UP

Plenary Powers Imperative in Dealing with British Financial Mission.

By DAVID LAWRENCE
Copyright 1922, by Janesville Daily Gazette.

Washington.—Great Britain's delegation, which has just sailed for the United States to negotiate an agreement whereby the rate of interest on the war debt shall be definitely fixed for a period of 20 years, will bring to a climax a number of questions which have been hanging fire for several months.

Representative Wendell, republican leader, who talked with President Harding at length Wednesday on the question of an economic conference, disclosed after leaving the White House some of the difficulties which stand in the way of negotiations with the allied governments.

"The very people who are in the debt commission are now loud in their clamor for an economic conference."

In other words, the administration finds its hands tied by the act of congress which not only fixed an interest rate admittedly too high for the allies to pay at once, but fixed 25 years as the period of payment for the whole debt.

Funding Commission
The administration has been considering whether to ask congress to amend the law creating the funding commission and give the body more flexibility. But to do so might displease the allies, and the close administration's hand in the negotiations with the foreign governments.

To make an agreement with the British, however, and then go to congress with a request for amendment would not be so satisfactory.

Neighborhood Feud or "Kid" Prank? Acid Is Found in the School Lunches

Waukegan.—Whether a childish prank or a "deep kid plot" to poison the food in two school children's dinner pails with carbolic acid is the problem engaging the attention of Waukegan county authorities, following a hearing in municipal court Wednesday in which three little girls told conflicting stories concerning the use of the acid.

The dinner pail mystery centers around the relations of three families whose children attend district school No. 1, town of Vernon, Wisconsin.

On the morning of the incident, the children of Norma Olson, 13, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ole Olson, was saturated with carbolic acid and that mite was worn by Rose Wachow, 11, daughter of George Wachow, her coming in contact with the acid.

Examination by Dr. C. F. McComb, coroner, showed Cohen was shot through the heart.

Police are working on the theory that Cohen was the victim of one of a trio of "moonshine" liquor traffickers.

Police advanced the theory that Cohen was shot through the heart at close range, was killed at the instigation of a bootlegger, and that the victim might reveal his identity to the police.

While virtually the entire city detective force was investigating the slaying, federal officials were seeking information as to the alleged illicit liquor business.

Baltimore.—Dr. B. M. McKoin, former mayor of Mer Rouge, La., Thursday lost his fight for immediate release on habeas corpus proceedings. He was remanded, to give the state time to present its case.

Dr. McKoin was arrested here Tuesday, at the request of Governor Parker of Louisiana, who accused him of murder in connection with the Moorehouse parish kidnapping last August.

Three judges of the Baltimore supreme bench sitting in city court denied Dr. McKoin the right to bail.

The district attorney General Cocco of Louisiana to State's Attorney, Leach said Dr. McKoin formally has been charged with the murder of Watt Daniel and Thomas Richards.

The district attorney added that a deputy sheriff was on his way to Baltimore with the necessary papers.

CITIZENS CLAIM MCKOIN WAS NOT IN PARISH

New Orleans.—Governor Parker reached here Thursday morning to take part in a conference with his legal associates and to discuss other phases of the Moorehouse kidnapping investigations.

CHIEF'S ABANDONED CAR TOWS BIG TRUCK

One of the freaks of the automobile world was enacted downtown Thursday morning, when the 12-year old roadster, recently abandoned in favor of a new car for Chief C. J. Murphy, was pressed into service to rescue the big $11,500 fire truck at No. 1 station, little more than a year old, and driven only 833 miles.

Firemen in aiding City Electrician V. F. Moore to repair the police signal light at Main and Milwaukee streets brought out No. 1 fire truck, but it refused to budge after being idle a short time. The chief's old car towed it to the station where repairs were made.

News for Farmers

Farm Bureau Official Information

FARMER'S DOLLAR

"WORTH 64 CENTS"

Conference Called in Madison to Consider Agricultural Problems.

Madison—Wisconsin's wheel of progress will meet another important gathering of farmers, bankers and editors, meet here Jan. 2-3-4. The chief business of the occasion will be to consider ways of bringing the farmer's 64-cent dollar more nearly back to par. "Merchandising—The Way Out" has been adopted as the slogan. It is expected that a definite program will be outlined by the farmers and allied interests.

The farm women of the state will hold special sessions of their own. They will discuss new food dishes, and experts will talk on saving steps in housework. "Do you want your daughter to marry a farmer?" is a question which will be answered during the week.

Reduced rail rates from all sections of the state will be in order as in the past. Several counties are planning large delegations. A committee is now at work getting the best possible rates for the expected guests.

All the agricultural interests of the state will be represented. Many of the breed associations will hold their annual meetings at this time.

The annual state grain show of the Wisconsin Experiment Association is another of the features of the week. For several years this has been one of America's greatest exhibitions of purebred seed grains.

Cheese Making Increases
Of 2,475 creameries and cheese factories in the state, fully one-third are operated by former dairy students of the Wisconsin College of Agriculture.

Statistics just compiled show that in 1922 the Wisconsin cheese factories produced 2,363 tons of cheese, valued at $2,807,000.

Wisconsin is strengthening her title to the greatest cheese producing state. During the last six years the total number of Wisconsin cheese factories has increased from 2,363 in 1916 to 2,807 in 1922. There are enrolled in the dairy course at the University of Wisconsin this year students representing 15 states, Illinois, Michigan, Montana, Nebraska, Ohio and Virginia are the outside states represented. Two students come from England and one from Canada.

The Hog Argument
As long as the buyers do not pay a premium to satisfy their fancies, Wisconsin farmers will not worry about changing the type of hogs which they are raising.

These are the views expressed by L. H. McKay, pork specialist at the University of Wisconsin. He has not found the demand for a certain type of hog as high as it used to be. Instead, he sees no inducement for the farmer to change his type of hog as long as the packers continue paying the same for both hams and loins. McKay regards the bacon hog as capable of making as economical gains on feeds as the large type, but sees an advantage in the capacity with which the large type matures and the use it makes of corn.

"Until the packers will pay enough for a premium for bacon hogs so that the farmer can afford to raise the higher maturing animal, the farmer is going to keep on raising the hogs which make the best use of the feed he has and which he can place on the market at five to six months of age," he declared.

In Canada, according to McKay, the packers pay a 10 per cent premium for the bacon hog—which means $1 a hundred more on 10-cent hogs. And there, too, the hogs are raised under different conditions for they do not have the corn.

"Our packers are either getting enough of the bacon type of hogs to take care of that portion of the English demand which they need or else the great English bacon trade is not nearly as important as we are asked to believe."

Clover Seed Crop
Wisconsin is maintaining a lead in clover seed production. According to Paul Nyhus, agricultural statistician for the state, a record crop of 368,000 bushels was harvested this year. This is greater by nearly 100,000 bushels than the yield of last year, which leads Wisconsin five-year average by about 20,000 bushels. R. A. Moore, agronomist at the college of agriculture, reports that many farmers in Calumet, Dodge, Washington, Fond du Lac and Manitowish are among the state's leading counties in clover seed production.

UNIFORM GRADING FOR TOBACCO CROP IN WISCONSIN POOL
Proper grading of the pooled tobacco will be undertaken by the Northern Wisconsin Tobacco Growers' association in the marketing of the 1922 crop.

In the past there was almost as many grades as there were buyers. There will be but one grading system, uniform throughout the tobacco growing sections of the state. The grading system is aimed at not only protecting the buyer against certain types of tobacco but also to pay farmers for raising a better quality of tobacco.

There are several reasons, explained by Science Nord of the association, why the pool wants to grade the tobacco when in the bundle, and when the tobacco is still on the farm. If it is sold in the bundle, the tobacco will be hauled, if sold in the bundle, direct to the cars saving the costs of rehandling. "In case the tobacco is packed, the warehouse managers will be able to obtain a more uniform packing," reads the pool statement.

Through the grading system the pool will know approximately the number of pounds of tobacco which it has to sell. No one farmer or group of farmers possesses any accurate knowledge of the tobacco supply and know less about the demand.

FEED OIL MEAL, SAYS L. J. MERRIAM, AGENT
"Many farmers seem to be laboring under the erroneous impression that it does not pay to feed their cows oil meal. Not just a handful but two and three bushels a day, if necessary. A great many farmers are producing less milk and at a much higher cost without oil meal than they would with it. It is not their home grown grain," states L. J. Merriam, Valworth county agent.

"Feeding only scant oil meal or none at all and trying to make corn, oats or barley take its place is simply throwing the grain cost about twice as high as it should be."

NEW AUTO LICENSE PLATES ARE "NIFTY," ARE BEING ISSUED

Pretty nifty—but it may be different when the mud starts splashing. The new auto license plates for 1923 being issued by Wisconsin have a white background with red letters. Early applicants are now receiving the new plates.

Some motorists say that it is good "head work" to obtain the big numbers as they cannot be distinguished so easily as the lower numbers.

Burlington Has Chance for Fair

Burlington, Wis.—Prospects for this city to get the Racine county fair located here permanently are considered good. Workers for the project here declare.

Although apparently Burlington is backing Rochester in its battle to have the fair located at the latter place, but has been expressed here that the chances for Rochester are not so good because of lack of transportation facilities and housing accommodations, and it is predicted that should Rochester's efforts prove futile, then a swing to Burlington will result and this city will obtain the fair.

Union Grove has also made a strong bid for the fair. A meeting is scheduled for Dec. 30, when proposals for handling the fair will be submitted for consideration.

RIVAL DAIRY AGENTS IN HEATED DISPUTE

Rival factions in the organization of Rock county dairymen clashed during a meeting held in Avon Wednesday afternoon. The meeting hall was packed with more than 300 farmers and at times the tension was so great, a breaking point was threatened.

Patrons of the Wieland Dairy company were called in to hear Frank Holt, Kenosha, head of the Chicago Milk Producers' association, which has had a break with the Chicago Milk Marketing company. An attempt was made to raise dues for the Producer's association. The defenders of the marketing company were present and an open debate held over the merits of the two organizations. George Irish was chairman of the meeting.

A challenge was made from the floor by R. K. Overton, one of the representatives of the marketing company, that the Wieland company had failed to pay spread charges for five months last year, retaining the money. A settlement of the claims is expected at an early date.

INTER-COUNTY TOUR DEVELOPS INTEREST

Jefferson county Duro breeders will make a tour of Rock county farms on Friday. The schedule is being arranged by a local committee and R. F. Stewart, field man for the "Duro" breeders.

The purpose of the tour is to give the breeders in the two counties opportunity of getting acquainted with each other, to inspect the herds and the means of common breed and farm problems. The Jefferson county association, recently formed, is showing excellent progress.

"We hope to find this debt," he said, "and get the burden of interest eased. If it is successful, I hope America will be kind to a much more important mission which Mr. Boner Law shortly will undertake."

Dollarithmetic

Maybe some few folks don't quite realize yet that America is buying and selling at natural price levels and has been for quite a while—the only country in the world of which this can be said. Here's fresh proof of the fact. American tourists report that prices in France are still 300 to 400 per cent HIGHER than before the war—so that, although the dollar today is worth twice as much as French money, it will buy LESS there than at home.

There's a lot of solid comfort in the thought that over here the balance is fairly well restored between the dollar and the things the dollar has to buy.

WISCONSIN TELEPHONE COMPANY

THE first telephone in Wisconsin connected a doctor's office with a druggist. The future of this crude instrument, at the time, seemed none too bright.

In less than the span of a single life the telephone has covered the State with a network of communication facilities.

Today the marvel of talking across a city, a state, or a nation is no longer looked upon as a miracle but merely as a detail of the service which covers a nation and embraces nearly fourteen million telephones.

SHIP ENGINEER HOME FOR VISIT

Karl Frick, 4 Years on Ocean, Returns After Many Adventures.

Travel to an extent that few people experience, has been the life of Karl Frick, son of Mr. and Mrs. Herman Frick, 229 Jackson street, the past few years. Now connected with the Black Diamond Steamship company, Mr. Frick makes the trip from New York to Europe every three weeks, until now that journey, which to so many people would be the event of a life-time, is commonplace. He is now visiting his parents, having come for Christmas.

Yet a young man, Mr. Frick has already had a lifetime of experience in seeing the world, having visited all the principal countries of Europe and several of the most remote. The Netherlands have become so frequent, and his visits there are so long, that he has come to be better acquainted in Rotterdam and Antwerp than in New York, he says.

Two Trips to China.
After graduating from Janesville high school, Mr. Frick went to Beloit college, then to the University of Wisconsin, where he took a position in New York with the branch of the Wisconsin Electric company. He was here when the United States entered the war and when asked to go on shipboard as an engineer, he went, and has been on the water since.

Before going with the Black Diamond company, three years ago, Mr. Frick was with the American Line, carrying passengers as well as cargo. With this line, he was engineer, either first or assistant, on the boats "Mongolia" and "Manchuria." He has made two trips to China and Constantinople and several to England.

In Scotland Recently.
Since he has been connected with the Black Diamond line, Mr. Frick's voyages have been chiefly to the two Netherlands cities mentioned, while on his recent trip to Glasgow, Scotland, where the boat (all Black Diamond boats are freighters) was loaded with coal and brought to this country to help relieve the shortage.

Trips are made with ten days spent in each of the two Netherlands ports and some time in New York. The work of an engineer such as Mr. Frick, is consists of supervising the work, seeing that the engines are in good condition. Boats on this line average 12,000 tons, Mr. Frick says.

Storms Are Frequent.
Many interesting experiences break the monotony of sea voyages, among them being storms which are often terrific and again are just the usual seasonal storms, coming along in December and the two following months. One storm last fall was especially bad, and almost sank the ship on which Mr. Frick was traveling. A call of distress was heard from another ship, the Mona, but due to the intensity of the storm, no rescue could be effected, and the boat went down with all hands. Rescue work does play a big part in the life of a seaman, however, and in the last three years, three boats have been saved from sinking by the work of Mr. Frick, he says.

The captain with whom Mr. Frick has been working for the past two years was captain of the "Frisco," the first American boat to be sunk in the war. It will be remembered, the captain was rescued from this boat and put on a German raider for two months.

Mr. Frick will return east the first of the year after a holiday visit with his parents. This is his first visit home in a year and a half. He expects to continue in the same work which has kept him on the sea for the past four years.

Seek Turnout of All H. S. Alumni

With many young men and women home from school, a large number of them and high school pupils are expected to attend the meeting of all Janesville high school alumni at the Y. M. C. An organization will be effected, officers elected and plans made for the coming year's activities.

It is hoped to make the alumni association an organization which will be of use to the one it was a few years ago, when annual banquets were held with large numbers attending.

With the new high school almost ready to be entered, it is hoped that the alumni can sponsor one of the new events to be held there.

The Kiwanis club will continue to carry on the welfare work in which it has been engaged for some time and to investigate and report on cases for the clinic.

Special attention will be given by the clinic to the welfare cases. Venereal diseases will continue to be taken care of through the clinic at the city hall. The dispensary at the hospital will be open on Tuesday and Friday's from 11 o'clock until noon.

Rail Official Tells of Losses by Poor Loading

H. G. Fowler, assistant superintendent of transportation of the Chicago, Milwaukee and St. Paul railroad, spoke before local employees of the road at a banquet, Wednesday night, in the Grand Hotel telling of the losses experienced by the road through improper loading of freight cars, resulting in damage suits.

J. A. McDonald, Madison, division superintendent, also spoke on freight losses and cited interesting cases. W. C. Kinney, Madison, master mechanic, and P. W. Zimmerman, local agent, were also on the program.

Freight shipments over the St. Paul road have increased slightly during the past month, according to statistics made Wednesday by local officials. The only slump noticed is on the Janesville to Chicago run which has decreased nearly 20 per cent. This is explained by the shut down of construction work on the new Union depot in Chicago. All of the gravel used in the building was formerly hauled over the Janesville to Chicago division.

Badger at Naval Academy Is Freed

Annapolis, Md. — The verdict in the case of Misspian Francis Y. Laurent of Wisconsin, charged with mistreatment of the senior class recently convicted before naval court martial and recommended for dismissal, has been set aside by Secretary of the Navy Denby, authorized by the secretary's edict. Laurent was released from arrest.

It is said certain mitigating circumstances moved department officials to override the dismissal verdict in Laurent's case.

Laurent was accused of compelling Wounded, B. Allen, a "pioneer" from Oklahoma, to do certain physical exercises.

ROCK CLUBWOMEN WILL MEET HERE

Film on Eradication of Bovine Tuberculosis to Be Shown.

The close relationship between the testing of all cattle on the area test to eradicate bovine tuberculosis and the human phase of the disease question are subjects to be discussed by the medical men of Janesville and the organized club women of the county. A meeting of the clubwomen is being called for Saturday afternoon in Janesville at 2 o'clock. The motion picture "Out of the Shadows" will be shown by Dr. Arthur J. Knilans, Wisconsin livestock commissioner.

Physicians declare that both the sanitation and the cattle test are needed to "stamp out" both bovine and human tuberculosis and both are interdependent.

"If we don't stop infection in humans, not only by testing cattle, but also by confining our human patients and caring for them properly, the infection will spread until the county will need four sanatoriums to care for the infected people," declared Dr. Knilans.

Testing of cattle is important and is one of the best things ever attempted in Rock county," declared Dr. W. A. Mann, Janesville. "At the same time there must be provided a sanatorium to care for the infected human beings. It is certain that unless our cattle are tested and means taken to prevent the spread of infection from one person to another, or from humans back to the animals, we would have to build additional wings to the sanatorium as needed. By having the cattle tested and caring for patients already infected, we can stamp out the disease in Rock county or at least reduce it to a marked degree."

Janesville physicians meeting, Wednesday, adopted plans for holding a free clinic and at the same time the medical club to organize so that they will be able to give treatment and care to any person afflicted with tuberculosis who are patients at the proposed sanatorium. The physicians declare that they will arrange the work so that no paid physician should be necessary.

REAL ESTATE AND PROHIBITION.
A member of the real estate board of New York city and one of the leaders in large operations there, William D. Kilpatrick, has made a statement in reference to the realty market in that metropolis which is news to some and has a remarkable angle. Before prohibition went into effect there was spent annually a little more than $700,000,000 in drink in New York. Almost every corner had its saloon and these were owned or held on mortgage in large part, by the brewers.
By this method a great amount of valuable real estate was kept off the market and business was stagnated or restricted in sections. It was argued therefore that when prohibition went into effect, trade, having so long failed to occupy these corners and adjusted itself to such circumstances as had been brought about by saloon domination through the breweries, stores would not take the saloon's place and there would be a decided slump in both rents and real estate values.
But the saloon corners have all been rented or sold and business has readjusted itself to the improved conditions of the people who formerly spent the $700,000,000 in booze. Legitimate business has received a larger part of the sum and honest merchandise has taken the place of the beer and whiskey in the economies of living. It was this situation that confronted real estate men. The hard luck story became less frequent in rent collection, losses became negligible and the head of house brought home his pay envelope instead of squandering it on the corner.
The intake of the 25 foot saloon was generally five times the intake of the 25 foot store front," says Mr. Kilpatrick. "Millions have been gained in increased rents for retail stores" occasioned by the demand and the rents have been warranted in the increased business of the stores. The money that formerly went over the bar goes to buying shoes, clothing and food. Former saloons renting for $1,800 a year now bring $4,800 for stores.
Despite these rents the retailers are making money to put them in the realty purchasing class. But let Mr. Kilpatrick tell the rest:
"The benefits of prohibition to the wholesale merchant, jobber and manufacturer have been reflected in the rentability of lots, warehouses and factories. Professions and trades have been likewise indirectly benefited. Rents are being made, as a rule, very promptly and, instead of the old, worn-out excuses, the collector gets real coin.
Little Jimmie is no longer sent to the corner saloon Saturday night. He tells his father the agent's waiting for the rent." In the matter of income, which determines values, the so-called "poor sections" are equaling and even outstripping the more pretentious locations. Any change in the prohibition law except more drastic enforcement, would be a body blow to the prosperity of New York real estate and to the assessed valuation."
The prohibition question is an economic question. The degeneracy of France and her many ills may be laid to the drink business. One out of every nine persons in France is employed in alcoholic liquor making or dissemination. Her debt to the United States could be paid in ten years with the francs used for alcohol in France.
Aside from any moral consideration the greatest economic question before the world is the abolition of drinks.
If we cancel the European debts the American people will have to pay them.
There is no reason to worry over the determination of Secretary of the Interior Albert Fall to resign from the cabinet of the president. There are plenty of men able to fill his place. In his administration of the affairs of his department he has frequently been the center of attack and recently has lost out on several proposals which have come from him, the last being the settlement of the Pueblo Indian lands withdrawn from general consideration when it was shown that the white men and half breeds were to receive benefits naturally belonging to the Indians themselves.
We are reviving some of the old fashioned things so what is the matter with having a few honest federal officials?
In Madison complaint is made that persons sent to jail on sentences for bootlegging and other violations of the liquor laws are paroled and that jail sentences are a joke. We have had that same sort of a hilarious joke for so long in Rock county that no one seems to care any more. A jail sentence here is a certificate of immunity from further arrest for the term fixed and no punishment.
We are getting back to normalcy when we can buy a watch for a dollar. But revolvers, the bandits' favorite brand, still come high.
That declaration by the allied reparations commission that Germany was in default because she had not furnished the proper amount of wood ought not to worry the ex-kaiser. According to all reports he has cut enough to last all Europe for a decade.

A NEW KIND OF SENATE
By FREDERIC J. HASKIN
Washington.—A senate selected by a method wholly antagonistic to the devices of ordinary politics. A senate composed of men whose primary qualification for the honor is a record service to the public and achievements reflecting honor upon the nation. A senate through whose portals it will be more difficult for a politician to pass than for the proverbial camel to pass through the needle's eye.
Has there ever been such a senate? Will there ever be? Or is it merely a dream of idealistic experimentalists in governmental affairs?
The answer to the first question is, No. The answer to the second question is, Yes perhaps. To the third the reply must be made that obviously it is a dream of idealists, but it must be added that it is far more tangible than most dreams for it is about to be tried out.
The senate of the Irish Free State is to be this unique legislative body, if peace comes to the Emerald Isle and the Irish have an opportunity to work out their own political destinies under the new constitution of the Free State. Needless to say the experiment will be the closest interest through the world, and particularly from this side of the Atlantic.
The Irish senate, the constitution provides, is to be composed of two members representative of each accredited Irish university and of 55 members representative at large of men of attainments in Ireland. The senators will be elected by popular vote, but the candidates from among whom the people will make their choice will be nominated in a most unusual fashion. Three times as many candidates as there are senators to be elected will have their names on the ballot. Of these nominees two-thirds will be selected by the Irish Chamber of Deputies, a body corresponding to the lower house in congress in this country, and the other third will be nominated by the senate itself.
The term of office of a senator is fixed at 12 years, twice that of an United States senator.
One-fourth of the membership of the Irish senate is to be elected every four years, whereas in this country one-third of the senators are chosen every two years.
But it is in its provisions as to the qualifications of the candidates for the senate that the Free State constitution is of special interest. It stipulates that before a man can be made a candidate he "must have done honor to the nation by reason of his useful public service" or he must, because of special qualifications or attainments, "represent important aspects of the nation's life."
Under such limitations it is conceivable that a politician might get into the Irish senate, but it would not be by playing the game of politics, or being a politician. He would have to have a record of achievements in other fields more likely to commend him to the consideration of the public. Manifestly, too, the senatorial candidates would owe no allegiance to parties, nor could their nominations be dictated or controlled by party bosses or special interests.
Men who attain to seats in the Irish upper house may be representative of almost every line of human endeavor—art, science, literature, industry, finance, education, politics, the military, the law, and what not. They may be poets, soldiers, engineers, priests, painters, publicists, farmers, professors, labor leaders, captains of industry, "doctors, lawyers, merchants, chiefs," but it is a fair gamble that the percentage of the men of the law will not be so high as it is in the personnel of national legislatures in these United States.
Men will not seek the senatorial toga in Ireland for the sake of the office and the power it symbolizes. They will strive for pre-eminence in their chosen fields of endeavor in the hope that the toga will be conferred upon them as a recognition of merit, carrying with it an opportunity for further and greater service to the people. They will enter the senate, not to make their careers, but to round them out. They will not be great men because they are senators; they will be senators because they are great men.
It would be interesting to read the biographies of such senators, and then follow the record of the proceedings of such a senate.
It is interesting, also, to speculate on the possibility of trying such a revolutionary idea in the United States and how it might be worked out.
Federal and state constitutional amendments would be first in order, but assuming that they had been effected here is what might be done: Qualification of senators would be the same, or substantially the same as provided in the Irish Free State. In order not to increase the membership of the senate to unwieldy proportions, the apportionment would give one senator to each state and 48 to the country at large, instead of two to each state as at present. Fixing the term at 12 years, 32 senators would be elected every four years, instead of every two years.
Three candidates would be placed in nomination for each seat to be filled. Two of the nominees for each senator representative of a state would be selected by the state legislature and one would be named by the national house of representatives. Such senators would be elected by the popular vote of the people of their respective states. Two-thirds of the nominees for senators at large would be selected by the national house of representatives and one-third by the senate itself. These senators would be elected by a nationwide popular vote.
To carry the speculation a step further with a view of arriving at some idea of the kind of men who would find their way to the United States senate under such a system. It may be recalled that some time ago a New York newspaper invited a large number of representative men and women to submit lists in answer to the question as to who are the 12 greatest living Americans. The 12 names included most often in the lists were those of an inventor, a college president, a manufacturer, an engineer, a lawyer, a general, an industrial chieftain, another lawyer, an artist, a judge, a novelist and a publicist.
And they were: Thomas A. Edison, Charles W.
Elliot, Henry Ford, Herbert Hoover, Charles E.
Hughes, John J. Pershing, John D. Rockefeller, Elihu Root, John S. Sargent, William Howard Taft, Booth Tarkington and Woodrow Wilson.
Other great Americans mentioned frequently included an editor, an engineer, a labor leader, another engineer, an actor, a publicist, a naturalist, a revivalist, a prohibitionist and a baseball player.
They were: President Harding, Chas. P. Steinmetz, Samuel Comer, George W. Goethals, E. H.
Sothern, William J. Bryan, Luther Burbank, Billy Sunday, "Pussy-foot" Johnson and "Baby" Ruth. has always been sure death in whiskey. The present brand only kills a little quicker.
The new president of Poland will not get into the papers very much. No editor, composer or proof reader will want to tackle the name
"Wojciechowski" any oftener than necessary.
That five second tremor in San Francisco was the safe locked.

JUST FOLKS
By EDGAR A. GUEST
GRANT ME TO FACE THE DAY
Grant me to face the morning with delight,
To see the beauty of the dawning day,
Grateful to sleep which softly swept away
The weariness which burdened me at night,
And once again new-armed me with might,
Restored me fit for labor or for play;
Let me rejoice that I have strength to fight
And send me brave and smiling to the fray.
I would not rise as one that has no heart
For duty or the beauty of the sun,
Who grudgingly goes forward to his part,
Grumbling at every task that must be done,
But I would wake, alert to duty and strife,
Glad that I face another day of life.

DO YOU REMEMBER
When people thought they could buy birth-store?

When the average gent didn't have to take

When there was a demand for heavy rubber

When it wasn't possible to find a newspaper

When the quickest way to get a message to a man was to ring him up on the telephone?
When a person could get a good new overcoat

When a man could leave his shoes at the cab-

It doesn't look as though the snow shovels

Who's Who Today
JACINTO BENEVENTE.
Jacinto Benevente, one of the five men to win the 1922 Nobel prize, is a Spanish playwright.
He is the second man to receive the prize for prize for literature. It is really a double prize, covering the years 1921 and 1922.
Benevente is held by most English speaking people to be the writer of the heavier dramas and tragedies but in his own country he is famous for his humor, wit, and satire. He is fifty-five years old and was born in Madrid where he studied law. He never practiced the profession, however, being from the beginning interested in the theater.
His first play, "My Brother's House," was serious, but even at the start he showed less anxiety about the plot than he did about characterization. A reputation for bitter satire gained in the country by the first of his plays to be done here, "The Bonds of Interest," has not yet been lived down although he has written much in a different vein.
Spain is very proud of this playwright and points to him as a modern Lope de Vega or Calderon. He is said to be an admirer of these ancients and is bound to produce a certain number of their works in his position as director of the Teatro Espanol in Madrid.
Benevente is expected in the United States soon to see the production of his play in English called "Fields of Erimine."

LOOKING BACKWARD
FORTY YEARS AGO
Dec. 28, 1882.—There is considerable talk of getting up another Robert Burns festival this winter, the last year was such a great success.—Those in charge of the Burns celebration which will be open to the public, are asking that townspeople donate chairs and pictures. Many good books have been purchased with the fund raised.
THIRTY YEARS AGO
Dec. 28, 1892.—Four lodges elected officers, the heads of each now being: Janesville lodge, 35, T. E. Cook; Knights Templar, Theodore B.
Goldin; Western Star, J. L. Croft; Woodmen, George S. Parker has been made president; Alexander Galbraith, vice-president, while the executive committee is made up of members from each ward.
TEN YEARS AGO
Dec. 28, 1912.—Y. M. C. A. directors have started a campaign for $23,000 to improve the present building. So far, all but $5,000 has been raised.—Three have been arrested charged with selling liquor at South Janesplans have been started.

A LETTER FROM AN EDUCATED LADY
What is the difference, if any, between a woman and a lady A. D.
1922?
An authority informs us that a lady is a woman who looks after the domestic affairs of a family, a woman to whom obedience is homage, and is owed, the feminine correlative of a lord, a woman of social distinction or superior position, a woman of refined and gentle manners. Anyway a lady is a woman. Since we have no lords in this country we have no ladies of that cut. But any one can get a pretty fair idea of what constitutes a lady by reference to the authority quoted, Dr.
Noah Webster.
Here is a letter from an educated lady or at least a lady who is being exposed to education and in whom it seems to take:
St. . . . Hospital.
Dear Doctor:
Your valuable letter of information reached me today and you may be sure it was appreciated. I shall always remember the good advice you gave me as I have no one else to rely on. My mother died when I was 10 years old and my father sent me away to school. My school companions told me things which I have now found out are not true.
Again I thank you from my heart for the precious advice you gave me and I wish you success and health and long life.
Yours sincerely,
JONQUIL RIBETTE.
Of course that isn't the lady's name but she's a pupil nurse in a hospital training school.
Thousands of ladies of education might just as well be orphans at 10, so far as adequate instruction in the truth of life by their mothers may be concerned.
Miss Ribette writes a brief enough letter but it tells a big story.

tions are sent direct to the inquirer.) Q. What part of the feast that farmers consume do they raise?
A. F. F.
Q. A survey reveals that food that about 70 per cent of their food is made by farmers, or exchanged locally. The rest is brought in by railroad. Possibly another 10 per cent could be produced economically at home.
Q. What country is known as the chickadee land?
A. A. Australia has been so called.
The leaves of some of the trees there are arranged always to present their edges to the sky, others have foliage composed of mere needles, and others dispense with leaves altogether.
Q. What states produced the most gold last year?
A. California stood first with a gold production valued at $15,704,822.
Colorado was second with $8,838,328, and South Dakota third with $5,605, 227.
Q. What is the nearest Alaska came between California and Colorado was an output of gold valued at $6,073,540.
Q. In cribbage, if both persons say "no," who counts it?
A. The one who comes the nearest to 31, that is the last player counts it for the go.
Q. Who invented the "rule of eleven" used in auction?
A. This rule was invented by E. J.
Pester in the days when what was in vogue. It is, of course, equally applicable to auction.
Q. Do animals lap up water, or suck it up?
A. Carnivorous animals lap up water with the tongue. Herbivorous animals, as the horse and the ox, suck it up.
Q. What is meant by the saying:
"Get up and get your head shaved"?
A. At one time persons who showed symptoms of insanity were sent to drink the mineral water at Bath.
Having the head shaved was a part of the treatment when insanity was suspected.
The obvious meaning is, satirically,
"You are going mad; you had better go to Bath and get your head shaved."

DETROIT PLANNING
1925 WORLD'S FAIR
[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Detroit will have a world's fair either in 1925 or 1926.
It is a plan prepared by the Detroit Board of Commerce materials.
A world's peace jubilee and waterway exposition in 1925 is planned in the event Philadelphia is unable to carry out the contemplated plan for an exposition commemorating the 150th anniversary of the signing of the Declaration of Independence.
If Philadelphia holds the exposition, the Detroit fair would be held a year earlier. Harold H. Emmons, president of the board, announced the proposal would be studied carefully by leading business men here within the next few months. The last world's fair was held at St.
Louis in 1904.

Vienna.—In 1914 the municipality of Vienna sent to the Lyons fair a priceless exhibit of relics of the Franco-Austrian period of Napoleon's time. They included many mementoes of the French Emperor and of many Louis, and other articles of great historic interest.
The war came, and the collection is still in France. This week the Mayor of Vienna petitioned the French Minister to restore it to the city. It is understood these articles are now in the hands of the French liquidator of alien enemy properties.

Chicago Review.
Chicago.—Despite an initial show of strength without turned downward in price Thursday during the early dealings. Profit taking on the part of holders appeared to be the main factor responsible for the decline. The opening, which varied from unchanged to 1/2¢ higher, with May 1.25 1/2¢@1.26 1/2¢, and July 1.15 1/2¢@1.16 1/2¢, was followed by a moderate setback all around. May and July going to well below Wednesday's finish.
Calities which ensued, failed to last in the absence of any aggressive support. The close was at the same as Wednesday's finish to 1/2¢ lower, May 1.24 1/2¢@1.25 1/2¢, and July 1.14 1/2¢@1.15 1/2¢.
Corn paralleled the action of wheat. After opening a shade off to 1/2¢ up, May 72 1/2¢@73 1/2¢, the market underwent a general subsidence.
Bids started at a shade decline to a like advance, May 46¢ and soon eased down for all deliveries.
